Early Life and Career

Zerah was born in Los Angeles, California, to a family of artists. She began her career as a child actress, appearing in commercials and television shows. In her early teens, she landed her breakout role in the Disney Channel series "Shake It Up." The show was a huge success, and Zerah quickly became a household name.

After "Shake It Up," Zerah went on to star in a number of other television shows and movies. She also released a successful album of her own music. In addition to her acting and singing career, Zerah is also a talented dancer and poet. She has performed on stage and in film, and her poetry has been published in several anthologies.

Philanthropy and Activism

Zerah is not only a talented artist, but she is also a passionate philanthropist and activist. She is a strong advocate for education and the arts. She has worked with several organizations to provide scholarships to underprivileged students and to promote the arts in schools. Zerah is also a vocal supporter of LGBTQ+ rights and social justice.

In 2018, Zerah founded her own nonprofit organization, The Zerah Jordana Chana Mayim Foundation. The foundation's mission is to empower young people to reach their full potential through education and the arts. The foundation provides scholarships, grants, and mentorship programs to students in need.
