It all began in 2014, when Steve Jenkins and Derek Walter stumbled upon a pig named Esther at a slaughterhouse in Canada. Esther was just one of thousands of pigs who are sent to slaughter each year, but there was something special about her that touched the men's hearts.

Steve and Derek decided to rescue Esther and give her a home. They took her to their farm in Ontario, where she quickly became part of their family. But Esther's story was just beginning.

As Steve and Derek spent more time with Esther, they began to realize the extent of the suffering that animals endure in the food industry. They learned about the horrific conditions in which animals are raised and the cruel methods used to slaughter them.

Determined to make a difference, Steve and Derek decided to start a sanctuary for abused animals. They called it Edgar's Mission, after a pig who had been rescued from a similar fate as Esther.

Edgar's Mission quickly grew from a small farm to a thriving sanctuary that provides a safe haven for hundreds of animals, including pigs, cows, chickens, and goats. Steve and Derek work tirelessly to care for the animals, providing them with medical care, nutritious food, and plenty of love.

In addition to providing a home for abused animals, Edgar's Mission also raises awareness about the plight of animals in the food industry. Steve and Derek speak at schools, community groups, and events, sharing their story and advocating for a more compassionate world.

The story of Two Men Wonder Pig And Their Life Changing Mission To Give Animals Home is a heartwarming and inspiring tale that highlights the power of compassion and the importance of giving animals a voice. It is a story that will stay with you long after you finish reading it.
